Restaurants Sue Google for Allegedly Prioritizing Delivery Apps in Search

"Google never bothered to obtain permission from the restaurants to sell their products online," the lawsuit alleges. "Google purposefully designed its websites to appear to the user to be offered, sponsored and approved by the restaurant, when they are not."

California State Senator Bill Dodd Pushes for Sensible Alcohol To-Go Law

“Sen. Dodd’s continued focus on helping neighborhood restaurants build back from the devastating impact of pandemic closures is critical and greatly appreciated,” said Matt Sutton, senior vice president of government affairs at the California Restaurant Association. “SB 846 takes what has been a successful trial project and restores it -- on a time-limited basis -- by reestablishing the ability for cocktails to be part of the offsite restaurant experience, something current law already allows for beer and wine. SB 846 has been thoughtfully written and helps meet those changed restaurant guest expectations by providing additional consumer choice, while enhancing public safety.”
