Pressure builds nationwide to regulate third-party delivery services

The attorney general of N.Y. and the U.S. Small Business Administration are now investigating. Allegations against services like Grubhub include violation of state anti-trust regulations and charging restaurants for calls that don’t result in food orders.
ICE raids: So far, Southern California not seeing stepped-up raids
Despite the threat of widespread raids from Immigration and Customs Enforcement, arrests have not yet been as extensive as feared.

Helpline: We have a new Industry Insight on "Minors and Bars: The Basics" by our legal partner Christine Long. She notes that the law generally doesn't allow individuals under the age of 21 in bars, but there are exceptions. If you have a restaurant bar, for instance, a minor is allowed to enter and remain inside a restaurant that happens to have a bar attached to it, but not sit in the bar area. This means not only at the bar but generally at the bar tables.
