CALIFORNIA

Burbank, other SoCal cities shut down streets to accommodate outdoor dining amid COVID pandemic

Many communities are grateful to be able to hang onto outdoor dining during the current shutdown of indoor dining. One Southern California restaurateur told ABC 7 that he's been able to hang onto his employees because of it.

A detailed map of who is wearing masks in the US

There is more mask use in some parts of the country – including California – than in others, according to this analysis. Public health officials believe that if mask wearing were universal and people did it consistently, rates of coronavirus transmission could be substantially reduced.

National Restaurant Association sends Blueprint for Restaurant Revival to Congress

Nationwide, more than 100,000 restaurants have closed in July. The National Restaurant Association's Blueprint for Restaurant Revival urges Congress to support relief that is targeted to the restaurant industry and would include grants to help restaurants cover the costs of payroll, benefits, mortgages, rent, supplies, protective equipment, and cleaning materials.
